Abstract

We shall see how the state mediation on a world scale was perceived in the regulation theory of the regime of growth marked by the 'cognitive' (Paulre, Azais et alii) or the 'patrimony' (Aglietta, Orlean et alii), on one side; and of the other one, in the Marxist theory of the regime of accumulation with financial dominant (Chesnais, Husson et alii). The mediatory category of the conflicts is deducted in each of these theories as entity outside in relation to the financial globalization, but which comes to fill within that if every required functional rightly or wrongly. We underline the importance to analyse as the role of the state in the globalization as the state shape in the era of globalization
